Garden Checklist

1. Start a hedge this month. The sooner you put it in, the more growth you'll get through the year. Check your nursery for the good-looking varieties of that practical hedge plant, privet; or consider the many varieties of pittosporum available now. Oleander makes a wonderful flowering hedge for a hot spot, and members of the laurel family grow into handsome, glossy screens or dividers.
2. Check your nursery for early spring flowering shrubs and trees, and make your selection while the plants are in bloom. In some areas you may still find late blooming deciduous nareeroot, but most of them will be in containers now.
3. As your flowering shrubs and trees come into bloom, you can shape them to your desire and use the flowered branches as indoor decoration. Tall branches of bloom are dramatic in a low bowl in an entry or hall — and for smaller scaled arrangements try arranging your spring blossoms with daffodils and primroses.
4. Citrus trees can be planted now. Ask about the ones that do well in your area. Give them a warm, sheltered spot where they will not get water too often. Good drainage is a must.
5. You'll find choice crysanthemum plants in the nursery this month. Try the low growing compact ones that don't require staking for the best landscaping effect. Use at least three plants of a variety to make the best show.

... Let's Go

By LARRY MACARAY

It seems that photographers group free of charge — but have a sensitive feeling to the various members indicated to me that they could afford some sort of a nominal rent.

It could be a store downtown or a warehouse somewhere — if you know of such a place, drop me a card or letter at the newspaper.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Giacalone, owners of Torrance Camera in downtown Torrance, visited our gallery last week-end, and took a way four outstanding oil paintings. "Backstreets of Rome" by Tabacchi was my favorite, but the two Venetian scenes by Meisler and the floral by Raubertas were also very appealing.

Some months ago — Mr. and Mrs. Paul Common, owners of Paul's Camera, located at 101 Highway and Hawthorne, fell in love with the noted Al Lecoque's paintings. Lecoque was recently the subject of two color documentaries on local TV. Mr. and Mrs. Common acquired two of the finest Lecoques that I have ever seen.

KATIE PHILLIPS
Sales Honors

ROBISON PHOTOGRAPHY on Crenshaw Boulevard near Highway 101 will be featuring 10 oil paintings by Lecoque for a few more days. As even the smallest Lecoques are in the thousand dollar bracket, it would be interesting for you to drop in and see the paintings at 25366 Crenshaw.

I managed to gather these 10 paintings for Bill Robison to show because of a big promotional thing going on there in the shopping center where he is located.

Bill is fast becoming a top notch photographer in the Southern California area. He recently spent six days in Mexico (expenses paid of course) on a photographic assignment for a hotel chain there. He reports that the fishing and hunting were also good there.

Achievers Name Top Salesman

Katie Phillips, a 15-year-old Morningside High School student, has been selected as Junior Achievement's Southwest Salesman of the Year.

Well, maybe saleswoman.

Miss Phillips will represent the Southwest Achievement Center at the Southern California finals.

She was selected following a series of tests and interviews. Other finalists include Eileen Threlfall, Inglewood High School; Bryan Pickett, Bishop Montgomery High School, and Elaine Luxton, Morningside High School.

Vice president of Recor Products, Miss Phillips has been directing a sales campaign which will net stockholders of the Junior Achievement firm a 10 per cent stock dividend.

Junior Achievement is a national program of economic education in which teenagers learn about the American free enterprise system by organizing and operating firms under the guidance of advisors from local business firms.

ART FORUM is the name of the recently activated art club at El Camino College. It has been a long time in coming. The art club has never been a very active one — and finally died.

Now that a more aggressive and dynamic group of students have begun to paint together — study together and discuss together — the climate is ready for the forming of a strong student voice in the local art community.

Local art groups usually are dominated by sweet little old ladies who paint pretty floral and seascapes (Torrance may be the exception) so I always breathe a sigh of relief when I see a good local student group organize.

"Women like a strong silent man because they think he is listening."
